ceed with the case to a close, though he could open it. The prisoner's counsel op-posed further remand. Unless some evi-dence was presented he should be released. Howell said he was prepared to give some evidence. The Judge said he would give all the remands necessary to enable the United States authorities to make good their evidence.

Collins, of the Chicago police force, then took the stand and said that he knew Cronin; saw him about two weeks before his disappearance, and was also present at his funeral. He first became acquainted with the prisoner eight or nine months ago. Knew him as Martin Burke, and had several times conversed with him. The last time he saw Burke was in Chicago, after the murder, and had since been searching for him to arrest him for complicity in that crime. When he met Burke he said to him: "How do you do, Martin," to which Burke replied:
"How do you do, John." I remarked:
"This is a queer place to find you, Martin," and he answered "yes." The prisoner declined to speak further.
Officer McKinnon, of the Canadian police, testified that he saw the prisoner at the depot, and also to his nervous manner, displaying anxiety to keep out of the way and avoid observation.

At the conclusion of McKinnon's testimony, the prisoner was remanded until Tues-

A dispatch from Ottawa says the Department of Justice has received from Justice Baine, of Winnipeg, official notice of the fact that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Martin Burke, alias W. J. Cooper, for the murder of Dr. Patrick H. Cronin. The information in the case was made by John M. Collins, a police-officer of Chicago. No further proceedings will be taken in the department until Burke is committed for extradition, whereupon, after requisition has been made by the United States for Burke's surrender, a warrant may be issued by the Minister of Justice, upon his being satisfied that the offense is an extraditible one and the offense justifies extradition.

An Editor Who Says Cronin Is Alive. KANSAS CITY, June 26 .- O. H. Rothaker, managing editor of the Omaha Republican. is in the city to visit his friend, Recorder Michael Boland. Mr. Rothaker was asked by a reporter for an opinion on the Cronin murder, and replied: "Cronin is not dead. He is alive and will show up in England before many more days." Pushed for an explanation for his belief, Mr. Rothaker said that for a number of years he had been in position to know of the character and movements of Irishmen con-nected with organizations in the States interested in the eman-of Ireland from England's tyranny. He scoffed the idea that Recorder Boland, Alexander Sullivan, or any one of the triangle were responsible for the alleged removal of Cronin. Mr. Rothaker expressed himself as being positive that the body found in the sewer was not that of Cronin, but "a stiff," obtained from a Chicago medical college. Continued Mr. Rothaker: "My belief that Cronin is alive is strengthened by a telegram addressed to a prominent Irishman in Omaha, and which was shown me. It was sent from which was shown me. It was sent from Chicago, and its contents were to the effect that positive assurance had been re-ceived by the sender that Cronin was still alive, and requesting information as to his whereabouts."

The Death of Mrs. Hayes. FREMONT, O., June 26 .- As soon as Mrs. Hayes's death was known, the little city of Fremont put on funeral garb. The national colors, appropriately draped, float on every flag-staff and private residence and business house. Friends of the Hayes family hastened at once to the family residence to tender sympathy and assistance. Messages of condolence from all parts of the country came pouring in, over 2,000 having so far been received from per-sonal friends and various organizations. Among these were messages from President Harrison, Governor Foraker, Major McKinley, Bishop Gilmore, Secretary Wind Frances E. Willard, all the members of the ex-President's Cabinet, Senator Allison and the ex-pupils of the Ohio Soldiers' Orphans' Home. Numerous letters from places near by have also been received.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 26.—Mrs. Harrison expresses herself as deeply pained at the news of the death of Mrs. Hayes. Inquiry at the Wanamaker cottage this evening elicited the reply that it was probable that she would attend the funeral, although much depended upon whether the President should himself decide to go.

Flathead Indians Preparing to Fight. HELENA, M. T., June 26 .- The latest advices from Missoula regarding the trouble with the Flathead Indians say that the Indians have threatened to wreck the trains and destroy the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, which they regard as their foe, because the train secured the escape of the sheriff's party. Superintendent Dickinson has telegraphed the gover-nor and the War Department for troops to assist in protecting the property of the railroad. It is rumored the colored troops were withdrawn this afternoon. The Indians are reported to have sent their women and children to the hills, which means that the trouble is not ended yet. It will not be surprising if the troops will have to kill a dozen or more of the disaffected Indians before quiet is restored. The refusal of the chiefs to deliver up the Indian murderers is looked upon as a declaration of hostilities.

The Pretty Grounds About the Corcoran Mansion to Be Cut Up into Lots.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The old aristocracy of Washington are considerably exercised over the conduct of the heirs and trustees of the Corcoran estate in cutting up into building lots and advertising for sale the beautiful grounds that surround the mansion of the late philanthropist. Mr. Corcoran owned the finest house in Washington. It stands opposite the White House, across Lafayette square, and is enclosed within a high brick wall. He had a park that covers nearly an entire block, and one of the largest blocks in the city. This ground was precious to him, and he greatly enjoyed it. The flowers and trees were his special delight, and most of his mornings during mild weather were spent wandering about his grounds and sitting upon his lawn. The property is inherited by his two grand children, Mr. William C. and Miss Lulie Eustis, aged somewhere from twenty to twenty-five years. They do not appear to reverence the ancient mansion, as many of Mr. Corcoran's old friends and neighbors do, and within a few months after his death shocked the circle of their intimate acquaintances by adver-tising it for rent, but it is not a house easily rented. The rooms are few in number, but very large, and were arranged for the use of a childless old widower, who needed only apartments enough for himself and his attendants. Now the heirs have decided to cut up the grounds into small lots and sell them on the market. Being situated in the most desirable portion of the city, they will probably bring the highest prices of any residence property ever sold here.

MINOR MATTERS.

Mr. Wanamaker's Plan to Stop Sunday Mail Trains Vetoed by the Cabinet.

Special to the Indianapons Journal. WASHINGTON, June 26 .- At the Cabinet meeting yesterday the proposal understood to have been advanced by Postmaster-general Wanamaker, relative to the discontinnance of Sunday mails, was discussed, and it is learned that the members of the Cabinet were unanimous in disapproving of the suggestion that mail trains should be stopped on Sunday. The idea seemed to be that such a plan would involve unnecessary delay and greatly discommode the business public, and that it would be very unwise to carry out the proposition. It is learned that an understanding was arrived at whereby the mails will be continued as usual.

The President assured the ladies that the subject should have his consideration.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. Washington, June 26.-Col. W. T. Durbin, of Anderson, who came to Washington a few days ago with D. M. Ransdell, of Indianapolis, called upon President Harrison, by appointment, at 5 o'clock this afternoon. His business was in reference to certain Hoosier appointments; and those whom he represents may find some satisfaction in learning that he was received with unusual hospitalities. Colonel Durbin, after partaking of dinner with the President, joined him in a drive over the beautiful roads to the north of the city. Later, at 9 o'clock, Colonel Durbin and Mr. Ransdell left for their homes.

The Green Midge Said to Be Harmless to Late and Early Wheat. Special to the Indianapolis Journals

WABASH, June 26.-For the past ten days reports have been sent from this section of Indiana about the alleged ravages of the green midge, or plant louse, which has infested the wheat and oats, and is found in wonderful profusion in the late wheat. It seems now quite evident, however, that the damage done by the pests will be infinitesimal, if any, as a close examination of the grain shows that the heads are filling out nicely, and are sound and plump. There is evidently no cause for alarm. Those who have observed the work of the bug in other sections state that no harm resulted.

ILLINOIS. A Deserted Husband Murders His Wife an Then Takes His Own Life at Springfield. SPRINGFIELD, June 26.-Walter Hamp, a butcher from Lancaster, Pa., murdered his wife here to-day, and then committed suicide by shooting himself. About six months ago Hamp's wife, after possessing herself of as much of her husband's money as she could get hold of, abandoned her home and fled with one Henry Doerr. About three months ago they came to this city and opened a batcher shop. They were located here by Hamp, and to-day he put in an appearance, visited his wife at her boarding-house, and requested her to accompany him to a justice's office to sign certain deeds. The justice went out for a few moments, and during his absence Hamp fired three shots into his wife's breast from a revolver, and then, turning the weapon on himself, he fired a ball into his own brain. Washington Post. When it is told that there are 35,000,000 logs in the river at Skowhegan, Me., and that they are going through the boom at the rate of 6,000,000 a day, one gets an idea that there is considerable lumber left in New England. As a matter of fact, there is more timber within 150 miles of Boston to-day than at any time since the war, and it is growing faster than it is being cut.
